

Tutorial Create Account GitHub

1. Go to <https://github.com>. Fill the username, email address, and password that will be used. Then, click Sign up for GitHub.

The screenshot shows the GitHub homepage. The navigation bar at the top includes links for Personal, Open source, Business, Explore, Pricing, Blog, and Support. A search bar and 'Sign in'/'Sign up' buttons are also present. The main content area features the text 'How people build software' and a description of GitHub's purpose. On the right, a sign-up form is displayed with four red boxes and numbers: 1 for the username field (containing 'ostutorial'), 2 for the email field (containing 'faizaintfz@gmail.com'), 3 for the password field (containing seven dots), and 4 for the 'Sign up for GitHub' button. Below the password field, a note states: 'Use at least one letter, one numeral, and seven characters.' At the bottom of the form, a disclaimer reads: 'By clicking "Sign up for GitHub," you agree to our terms of service and privacy policy. We'll occasionally send you account related emails.'

2. Choose Unlimited public repositories for free. Then, click Continue.

The screenshot shows the 'Welcome to GitHub' page. The user has taken their first step into a larger world, @ostutorial. The page displays a progress bar with three steps: Step 1 (Completed: Set up a personal account), Step 2 (Choose your plan), and Step 3 (Tailor your experience). Under 'Choose your personal plan', there are two radio button options: 'Unlimited public repositories for free.' (which is selected and circled in red) and 'Unlimited private repositories for $7/month. (view in IDR)'. Below these options, a note says: 'Don't worry, you can cancel or upgrade at any time.' There is also a checkbox for 'Help me set up an organization next' with a brief explanation and a link to 'Learn more about organizations.' At the bottom, a green 'Continue' button is circled in red. On the right, a box titled 'Both plans include:' lists features: Collaborative code review, Issue tracking, Open source community, Unlimited public repositories, and Join any organization.

3. In this step, you can freely fill out the form as you wish. Then, click Submit. Or if you want to pass this step click skip this step next to submit button.
